2. OBJECTIVES AND LEARNING OUTCOMES

Objectives

The aim of the course is to deepen and systematize the participating teachers' knowledge of mentoring and to develop their practical skills that enable them to provide effective professional support to colleagues, interns, and students who are just starting their careers. During the course, students will learn about the complexity of the mentoring role, the pedagogical and psychological foundations of different types of mentoring, and methods for planning and documenting the mentoring process. Special emphasis will be placed on reflective practice, feedback techniques, formative assessment, and the importance of creating a climate of trust. The course also aims to develop students' communication, conflict management, and supportive attitudes, thereby promoting the formation of a professional mentor identity. The course is practice-oriented and builds on students' own mentoring experiences and situational exercises, providing space for awareness and development of skills.

II. SUBJECT REQUIREMENTS

TESTING AND ASSESSMENT OF LEARNING PERFORMANCE

General Rules

The objectives and learning outcomes set out in points 2.1 and 2.2 are achieved through active participation in the exercises (partial performance assessment).

Performance assessment methods

The assessment of students' performance is multi-component, in line with the practical nature of the subject. The assessment includes an individual written assignment (e.g., mentoring plan or case study) in which students demonstrate their ability to apply the methods learned. In addition, active participation in class, attitude demonstrated in situational exercises, and the development of social and self-reflection skills are also assessed. The learning process is accompanied by formative assessment, while the course is concluded with a practical report in which students demonstrate their competencies through the processing of a specific mentoring situation.
